Bush nominates Myers as JCS Chief, Pace as Vice

By Gerry J. Gilmore, American Forces Press Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 — President Bush announced today his nomination of Air Force Gen. Richard B. Myers, 59, to become the 15th chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Speaking to reporters at his ranch in Crawford, Texas, Bush added that Marine Corps Gen. Peter Pace, 55, would succeed Myers as vice chairman. The current JCS chairman, Army Gen. Henry H. Shelton, is slated to retire Sept. 30.

Choosing a new JCS chairman is "one of the most important appointments a president can make," Bush said. The Senate must confirm both nominations.

"Secretary (of Defense Donald) Rumsfeld and I thought long and hard about this important choice, and we enthusiastically agree that the right man to preserve the best traditions of our armed forces, while challenging them to innovate to meet the threats of the future, is Gen. Richard B. Myers," Bush said.

Pace "represents a new generation of leadership and military thinking," Bush said, adding that he has spent "a substantial amount of time" working with both men and "is convinced they are the right people to lead our military into the future."

Dennis Owens, WHTM 27 Anchor, as master of ceremonies. Shalom House Executive Director, Barbara Basile, will deliver the keynote presentation. RADM Justin D. ## NEXCOM awards its first CSI and ASI Achievement Awards

NEXCOM Public Affairs - The Navy Exchange Service Command believes that a good place to shop must also be a good place to work. To that end, each year it surveys its customers and associates through the Customer Satisfaction Index (CSI) and the Associate Satisfaction Index (ASI) to see how NEXCOM is doing to satisfy customer needs.

"Customer service is at the forefront of everything we do," said RADM Steven Maas, Commander of NEXCOM. "Our experience and that of other retailers has shown that customer satisfaction and associate satisfaction are interdependent. A substantial number of Navy Exchanges made significant progress in increasing their survey scores in 2001."

NEXCOM created the CSI and ASI Achievement Awards to recognize stores that show outstanding increases in survey scores over the past year.

The following Navy Exchanges were awarded the first CSI/ASI Achievement Awards for achieving exceptional results in meeting customer or associate satisfaction goals, as measured by the CSI and ASI surveys.

Navy Exchange Naval Station Guam was awarded the CSI Achievement Award for a large store. It increased its CSI scores from 73 to 77 (out of a possible 100) in 2000. Customers in Guam rated its associates a 79 for being courteous, knowledgeable, helpful, available, and treating them like valued customers.

Navy Exchange Naval Amphibious Base Coronado, Calif., was awarded the CSI Achievement Award for a small/medium store. Its scores in 2000 rose from 75 to 83. Customers in Coronado rated its associates a 90 for being courteous, knowledgeable, helpful, available, and in treating them like a valued customer. The store received a rating of 86 for ease of check-out, an increase in 10 points over the previous year. NEX Coronado also achieved an outstanding increase in its ASI scores during this same time period.

Navy Exchange Naval Station Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, received the ASI Achievement Award for a large store. NEX Pearl Harbor increased its ASI scores from 69 to 73 in 2000. Part of the success of this store is its ongoing comprehensive recognition and training program aimed at addressing opportunities to increase associate satisfaction.

Navy Exchange Naval Base Ventura County, Point Mugu, Calif., received the ASI Achievement Award for a small/medium store. Its ASI scores rose from 60 to 73 during 2000. NEX Point Mugu associates also rated their store a 79 in addressing previous survey results as compared to an average score of 69 for similarly sized stores.

Work continues at ERP Development Lab in Camp Hill

By Jody Kann

The Naval Supply Systems Command/Naval Air Systems Command (NAVSUP/NAV-AIR) Supply Maintenance Aviation Reengineering Team (SMART) Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) Project is in full swing in the development lab located in Camp Hill.

The project is currently in Phase II, or the Pilot Phase, which involves testing the ability of Commercial Off the Shelf (COTS) ERP systems to operate in the Navy environment and eventually allow the sunseting of national and regional stock systems, intermediate level maintenance and current forecasting tools. The SMART Project is focusing on maintenance planning and supply chain management as it pertains to the E-2C Hawkeye aircraft and LM-2500 gas turbine engine and involves wholesale and retail inventory management and organizational, intermediate and depot level repair.

The Phase II Pilot is moving ahead in stages, following the proven SAP methodology. SAP is the software selected to be the backbone for the SMART ERP Project, along with Advance Planning and Scheduling (APS) software provided by Manugistics/Xelus.

At present, the project is in the "Realization" stage of the pilot. Teams are configuring SAP and the APS tool to work as outlined by the Navy in the "Design" stage of the project. "Realization" will end in late August and will be followed by an "Integrated Testing" stage in September. The "go-live" portion of the pilot involving supply and maintenance of E2C and LM-2500 components and financial records will begin in FY02 after successful integrated testing. An assessment of the pilot during and after that period is planned before Navywide expansion.

In order to facilitate communication and foster synergy across the project, the team began conducting SMART ERP "Roadshows."

The roadshows have been planned for various sites with the purpose of coordinating legacy system replacement/interface and site preparation in anticipation of "go-live" in December.

A Norfolk roadshow was conducted on Aug. 6 and North Island on Aug. 20 with a trip to Pax River to be scheduled at a later date.

In addition to the scheduled roadshows, EDS recently presented an "ERP Primer" to FMSO and NAVICP to show how legacy systems will operate during the transition to a new SAP environment. The ERP Primer will also be presented in the 309 Auditorium. See below.

Civilian MWR, NEXCOM to offer food and retail services at Washington Navy Yard

NEXCOM Public Affairs - The Navy Exchange Service Command, working under an agreement with the civilian Morale, Welfare and Recreation (MWR) organization of the Navy Support Activity Washington, D.C., recently received congressional approval to develop and operate the Town Center at the Washington Navy Yard. This public and private venture will provide food and retail service at the Navy Yard.

"The Town Center should be quite an enhancement to the Navy Yard," said Ron Carlson, NEXCOM's Food Service Branch manager. "NEXCOM is excited to be able to assist civilian MWR in providing these services."

NEXCOM competitively solicited for the project. Compass Group, Inc., was selected to develop and operate the Town Center.

Ship Stores Support in Albania

NEXCOM Public Affairs - In any language the phrase "We save you money every day," is one that brings smiles to the faces of patrons who know the importance of the Navy Exchange's role in the lives of service members worldwide.

In Albania that same phrase, "Ne jemi dukë ju bursyer juve pare cdo dite" not only means savings but having a Navy Exchange-sponsored facility in country serving deployed Soldiers, Sailors, Marines, and Airmen in Albania as part of Operation Cornerstone 2001.

The Navy Exchange and its Ship Stores Program help bring some of the comforts of home to the field environment as they team with several NATO and Partnership for Peace countries to construct a roadway.

When Sailors and Marines deploy, the challenge is extended to Navy Exchange and Ship Stores personnel to meet the needs of its customers in whatever climate and wherever they are sent. Said Butch Moore, Ship Stores Program Operations Branch manager, "They deserve nothing less than our best effort."

FMSO recognizes top performers

CAPT Michael S. Roesner, Commanding Officer of the Fleet Material Support Office, recently held a ceremony to pay tribute to FMSO's "Top Performers" for 2001. The ceremony recognized FMSO's top Executive, Supervisor, Employee, Employee with Disabilities, Project Officer, and Team of the Year.

Executive of the Year Gerald F. Linnen is the director of the Command Support Division and is responsible for many diverse command administration programs such as Labor Management Relations, union contract and mid-term bargaining, and facilities management and planning. Under his leadership and guidance, the Command Support Division recently accomplished several major projects, including significant HVAC improvements to buildings 407 and 409.

Supervisor of the Year Susan J. Durborow was dual hatted through the year 2000 as both the project officer and the first-level supervisor responsible for the Defense Property Accountability System (DPAS). Her performance was exemplary. Her ability to manage shifting resources, priorities, and workload was outstanding.

Employee of the Year Richard J. Gurka is a lead computer specialist (programmer analyst) who is directly responsible for the programming and analysis of a multitude of subsystems, but his primary area of expertise is in the complex updating processes within STARS-HQ. He is also the resident expert in on-line programming in CICS and in the design of ad hoc inquiries using the Query Management Facility (QMF).

Employee of the Year with Disabilities James L. Wolf has been hearing impaired since birth. He began his career in the technical support arena and eventually moved into the applications world as a computer specialist. He has progressed from a trainee

Navy Leave and Earnings Statements available online

Active and Reserve Navy service members may now view and print their Leave and Earning Statements (LES) online.

Sailors who have access to the Internet whether deployed or using a home computer can see their LESs when they are posted at the end of a pay month. Normally they would have to wait until the middle of the next month when hard copies of LESs, which will still be provided, are issued.

Service members can access the Employee/Member Self Service (E/MSS) system at <http://emss.dfas.mil> or <http://www.dfas.mil/emss/>. LESs may be viewed by selecting the option from the account selection menu of E/MSS.

Personal identification numbers (PINs) are required to access E/MSS. A service member who does not have a PIN must obtain a new temporary PIN. Instructions on how to do so are available by calling the Defense Finance and Accounting Service E/MSS customer service line at 1-800-390-2348, from 7 a.m. through 7:30 p.m. Eastern Time Monday through Friday for additional assistance.

The E/MSS Web sites also contain instructions on how to establish a PIN.

Entertainment, craft & food vendors, training listed for Multicultural Day Sept. 12

Thai, Hispanic, Jamaican, Caribbean, and traditional food vendors will be part of this special day.

Craft and food vendors will be located between buildings 310 and 311.

To help victims of abuse, the domestic violence services of Cumberland and Perry County will be collecting toiletries during the Multicultural Day celebration. "Please help those in need," planners ask.

Make-up sessions for diversity training will be provided in the building 309 Auditorium. The guest speaker is Vera Cornish and her topic will be "Embracing Diversity And Pass It On."

position to a full journeyman along the way excelling in learning various computer languages and applications.

Project Officer of the Year Sheila D. Tyner has been given the responsibility for the ERP project (one of FMSO's largest ever) because of her talent and professional reputation. She skillfully leads a team of over 80 full-time project members and dozens of part-timers.

Team of the Year, the Oracle Team comprised of Woody Dericks, Gil Bruce, Jan Diehl, Molly McClure, Deb Nattress, and Denise Sobolewski, is located in Code 9422 and is under the supervision of William

Hall. Their responsibility evolved from a role of performing physical database design and maintenance to one that included supplying nearly 24 x 7 production support to a worldwide customer base. The team championed that cause by implementing state of the art software and procedures that continue to increase availability and reliability of Navy supply data. Furthermore they make themselves available during nonbusiness hours to insure that Oracle databases around the world remain operational. FMSO customers are confident that they will receive world-class support, weekdays and weekends to resolve emergent problems.

The new classes reflect new research into the effectiveness of CPR.

The classes are as follows: CPR for Friends and Family - This course is for individuals who want to learn CPR and relief of foreign-body airway obstruction for their own personal needs, such as individuals who have loved ones who are at risk for sudden cardiac arrest. The class allows the student to view the skills and practice on the manikins, however, no written or practical test is given and no certification cards will be issued.

HeartSaver CPR - This class is designed to teach CPR and relief of foreign-body airway obstruction to all lay rescuers who may need to respond to emergencies in the workplace or in a social situation. It is designed for lay rescuers who are required to obtain a course completion card. A course completion card (credential) will be given to all participants who successfully complete a written and practical test.

CPR for Health Care Providers - This CPR class is for individuals who provide health care in a variety of settings. These individuals may work in a medical setting or have positions such as emergency medical technicians, first responders, life guards, firefighters, police officers, or individuals who may assist these people at an emergency. This class is required for anyone who wants to become a CPR instructor. Individuals who successfully complete the written and practical tests will receive a course completion card (credential).
